

ITALY DAY AT WESTERLY

Red, White and Green Floats With Red, White and Blue Over Public Buildings—Parade and Big Meeting in the Evening—Final Red Cross Rally This Afternoon—Nearly $15,000 of Town's $25,000 Secured—Twenty-six Young Patriots Leaving Today.

There was an observance of Italy day in Westerly by a generous display of the stars and stripes all over the town, and at the post office, the town hall and the bank buildings. The Italian flag was displayed with the emblem that was made possible by the heroic action of the men of '74. The two flags were side by side at the manufacturing establishments and at the homes, the whole people uniting in showing appreciation of the significance of the event. Westerly has a large population of Italians, by birth or descent, and naturally they took the lead in the general observance of the day.

In the evening there was a street parade headed by the Westerly band, and this demonstration was participated in by more than 700 members of the Società Figli d'Italia, Società Operaia Italiana, and the Young Men's Italian club. They were escorted by the Westerly Constabulary, soon to become a part of the new Rhode Island State Guard, and by C. Company, Pawcatuck, Connecticut State Guard. After parading the principal streets, the parade being enthusiastically received all along the route, the marching body entered the town hall.

Here were patriotic talks on the praiseworthy part Italy was taking in the war and the preparations being made to become even more effective, in conjunction with the other allied countries, that were sure to achieve victory and permanent peace. Reference was also made to the necessity of the Italians in this country of their adoption, to become true American citizens.

The final rally in the Red Cross campaign will be held in Dixon square this (Saturday) afternoon, the speakers being Colonel Anthony Dyer of Providence, and Chaplain H. C. Meserve, 68th regiment, stationed at Fort Wright. A large bill board has been erected on the lawn of the Memorial building, and upon this will be drawn a war picture by three artists from Providence during the speaking. Up to Friday morning the sum of $14,879.66 was subscribed towards the allotment of $25,000, and there was quite an increase during the day, but the exact amount was not obtainable. The house-to-house canvass was started Friday by the women's committee, composed as follows:

They will then be transferred to the Long Island railroad and go direct to Camp Upton at Yaphank. The big bill board erected on the lawn of the Memorial building, and upon this will be drawn the patriotic addresses today (Saturday) in connection with the Red Cross campaign, will probably remain there until after the war ends, and be used for patriotic publicity.

NEW WAYS OF USING CANNED FRUITS

(By Mrs. Juanita M. Dean, Hartford County Home Demonstration Agent)

It is always a good policy to keep physically fit and especially so in these days when there is every need of 100 per cent. man power. The human system is somewhat depleted after the winter and craves the natural tonic found in fruits and vegetables. Fresh fruits and vegetables are getting more abundant, but the prices are possibly too high to be within the reach of the majority. Until they are reasonable in price you can well be using the fruits that were canned last summer.

Canned fruits as sauce. Short cakes and fritters. Will do more good than all the "bitters".

Fruits should be liberally used in the diet because:— They provide nourishment, keep the blood alkaline, stimulate the appetite, relieve monotony in the diet, furnish valuable mineral salts and acids, and aid digestion.

They are chiefly valuable for carbohydrates (starches and sugars) and mineral matter (iron, calcium, phosphorus, magnesium). The iron is especially valuable. The cellulose which constitutes the framework of fruit together with the fruit acids has a laxative effect and so should be eaten freely with a meat diet.

Many people think that fruit is a luxury, but this is an erroneous idea unless it is bought out of season or transported from remote sections. Canned fruits, if put up from one's own garden or when the product is reasonable in price are economical. For many canned fruits are more easily digested than fresh fruits due to the breaking down of the cellular framework, destruction of bacteria, and cooking of starch. Fruit juices are easily digested by young children and invalids.

Expose all canned foods to the air one-half hour if possible before serving. This tends to restore the natural flavor. The flavor of canned fruit is also improved by re-heating.

Now is the time to take stock of our canned fruits, grouping together those jars we shall need to open before the fresh fruits arrive so should be prepared the following recipes may prove suggestive:—

Preparation of Rice for Compote.—One cup rice, one-quarter cup butter substitute, one-quarter cup sweetening, 1 quart milk or water, grated rind and juice of 1 lemon. Pick over rice, wash well with cold water; add salt, milk or hot water, cook in double boiler until liquid is absorbed and rice is tender. Add remaining ingredients, mix well, place in a greased border mold, pressing in firmly. Set in oven 10 min. then turn out to serving dish. This amount of juice will fill a quart ring mold.

Compote of Pears with Rice.—Fill center of rice ring with canned pears placing two halves together with orange marmalade between and a bit of angelica projecting as stem of pear. Halves of pears may also be arranged around outside of ring. Fill centers with marmalade. Pour syrup over dish, and serve or chill before serving. Chopped nuts or cherries may also be added as a garnish.

Syrup.—One cup canned pear syrup, 1/2 lb. gelatine, 2 lb. cold water. Four hot syrup over gelatine dissolved in cold water. Let cool and thicken slightly, then pour over compote. Variations: Other canned fruits may be used in same manner. Peaches are especially good. After adding these to rice ring, garnish with whipped cream or marshmallow cream and sprinkle with chopped nut meats.

Fruit Sauce.—Two c. cornstarch, 1 c. fruit juice. Dissolve cornstarch in a little of the juice, add gradually remaining juice heated, bring to boiling point stirring constantly.

EFFECTS OF PROHIBITION OF BREWING AND WINE MAKING

Representative of Brewers Says It Will Hurt Barley and Hop Markets.

New York, May 24.—Prohibition of brewing and wine making would effect no saving in grains for food purposes, while it would work havoc with the barley and hop markets and impose serious losses on growers of these two crops, according to a statement made public here tonight by Hugh F. Fox, secretary of the United States Brewers Association, opposing Representative Randall's amendment to the food production bill.

Mr. Fox declared brewers use no wheat or sugar products which the government is striving to conserve. They will consume in manufacture this year, he said, only 42,000,000 bushels out of an estimated barley crop of 214,000,000 bushels and 10,000,000 bushels of corn and its by-products out of 3,124,000 expected to be raised. These features of grain consumption in the breweries, Mr. Fox asserted, will tend to strengthen the weak barley market and "broaden the market for corn, thus encouraging farmers to work for another bumper crop."

There are only five parts to a gas motor invented in Holland.
